Money Raised $2,460 donated to several charities

American Cancer Society, Leukemia and Lympoma Society, and the Coaches vs Cancer group

3 FUNDRAISING OPPORTUNITIES

Throughout the years, Uni High has always been contributing to good causes. 2012-2013 was no exception, as seen by the Venn Diagram to the left. In three fundraising events, Uni raised a total of $2,460, which was donated to three different charities.

Block Out Cancer

In October, the Girls Volleyball Team raised awareness about breast cancer through a series of fundraising games and matches. Uni managed to raise $1260 and 10 Euros, which was then donated to the American Cancer Society (ACS).

Autumn Awareness Blood Drive

in memory of Joe Seeley

From 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on November 9th, parents, faculty, community members, and students who were 16 or older, donated blood for those in need of transfusions. This blood drive was part of Autumn Awareness, a day dedicated to raising awareness of leukemia and was held in memory of Uni parent Joe Seeley. The event raised a grand total of $400 for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, and 66 pints of blood for the Community Blood Services of Illinois.

Hoopin' for a Cure

Hoopin' for a Cure, previously known as Coaches vs. Cancer, was January 11th at Kenney Gym. The event raised money for cancer research through a variety of ways, such as selling t-shirts and having a half-court shooting competition. Pancheros pitched in by selling burritos and chips, and for providing the prize of the winners of the half-court shooting competition.

#TeamUni

With the arrival of a new Assistant Director of Student Life, April Warren-Grice, students came into the year expecting many changes. These expectations were more than fulfilled, from the new drop-off method to the many inspirational signs posted around the hallways, and even a temporary detention policy. Some of these decisions sparked annoyance from parts of the student body, which led to a school-wide Town Hall meeting and other protests, both verbal and written. The Theatre Arts class went as far as to present dramatic reading sessions of climate problems experienced by Uni students and alumni, which were well-attended.

The discussions with the administration was not the only event that made waves in the Uni scene. Throughout the year, students attended several dances, school-organized parties, various food sales, athletic events, chess tournaments, volunteer events, and even a pep rally for the State-bound boys soccer team. Also, they got to meet students from the IMSA-Uni Student Council Exchange, in which IMSA students visited and shadowed students in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes for a day.

Even without all the big events, Uni's environment proves itself to be uncommonly free. On any given day, students can be spotted lounging in the library chairs or outside by the picnic tables, playing video games in the lounge, or hurriedly cramming for an exam next period. This amount of student flexibility has allowed for an incredible amount of self-expression: the town hall meeting, art, theater, quirky clubs, creative cheers for sports teams. All of the little ups and downs and little changes combine to make Uni High the curious, innovative, idiosyncratic, and incomparable place that it is.

The Only Way Is UP

Students take advantage of a school-wide free period

Uni is known for being a school of many unique traditions. Perhaps one of the most interesting is Uni Period. It's not a tradition so to speak, in fact it's only in its second full year, but it's already become an integral part of student life. Despite skewing bell schedules, this school-wide free period scheduled between 6th and 7th period has opened a lot of opportunities for everyone involved in the school.

Every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, a plethora of options are presented. Students can attend clubs that cannot meet during lunch such as the new Spanish Club or Quidditch Club. Other groups can meet as well, such as WILL interns or Jazz Band, which fills the school with their music. And for the very studiously oriented, teachers have set up Math Helps, Writing Centers, and other academic assistance sessions. Because the whole school shares this free period, it's also a convenient time for all-school assemblies.

For those who are not subfreshmen -- they have year-long mandatory study halls during this time -- the time can also be used for activities that are not set up by the school. Students can catch up on homework, take excursions to Green Street, mess around in the grassy area outside, and even take naps in the library. All in all, it has opened up a lot more free time for students and faculty alike, and has played a major part in de-stressing students. And by the looks of it, Uni Period will secure its place as another one of Uni's rich traditions.

Director Jeff Walkington leans over to remind speaker Dr. Ned Goldwasser of the time. Students enjoyed Ned's retelling of how he saved our school.

Adventures @ Allerton

"Team 2017" had a blast at the annual Subbie Retreat

Swarms of subbies invaded the grounds of Allerton Park one fine autumn day for a day of fantastic fun! Organized by the Subbie Buddies and their advisors, the 2012 Subbie Retreat included many fun and traditional activities.

To start off the day, the subbies played the ever popular icebreaker "Honey If You Love Me." Following the icebreakers the subbies were divided into two groups. One group watched a hilarious yet educational skit involving social media while the other group engaged in various team building activities. These included a trust-building walk, rope swinging, and other challenges.

After these activities, it was time to cool off with the classic "Drip Drip Drop." Some got "dripped," some got "dropped," and some just got soaked. Before long, everyone (to varying degrees) was dry again, and the annual Subbie Olympics began. The subbies organized themselves into their Olympic teams, and competed in various events, such as sheet volleyball, a three-legged race, and an obstacle course.

Next came the tug of war contest. The teams competed, ultimately culminating in the Subbies versus Subbie Buddies match. After everyone had at least one chance to take a fall in the sand, there was enough time for one final game. That, of course, was a favorite in the wide-open field of the camp: Capture the Flag. All in all, the Class of 2017 got to know each other a little better than before they came.

WELCOME TO UNI: Subfreshman Kyra Althaus is doused in water by Subbie Buddies while fellow Subfreshman Lizzie Carrubba looks on.

ROLE MODELS? Subbie Buddy Tommy Song drops a cup of water on Chas Newman in the game "Drip Drip Drop."

Timmy Purnell, Subfreshman
"Subbie Retreat was a really fun experience for me and helped me to bond with the people that I'll be spending the next five years with."

Wyatt Bensken, Senior
"It was nice to be able to go out to Allerton for the retreat this year. In years past we have been at Crystal Lake park, and at Allerton we were able to participate in the Low Ropes course which helped everyone get to know each other better as well as build team bonds that will be hard to break."

Rachel Green, Counselor
"The low ropes course and healthy school climate skits were a great addition this year—everyone went home dirty, tired, happy and uninjured!"

Varun Chopra, Subfreshman
"The activities at the Subbie Retreat were very fun and exciting. These activities were a great way to get to know my classmates!"

GETTIN' DOWN

HOWDY HOP

The first dance of the year, sponsored by Student Council, was held on August 24th. The dance was a hit as it took place in the first floor hallway and was very well attended. Extreme temperatures made the event as much of a fitness class as a dance, as students worked their moves and dripped in sweat.

HOMECOMING

Also known as "Fall Ball," this dance took place on October 24th in the second floor hallway. It was hosted by the senior class. This dance was especially memorable for members of the Junior and Senior classes because this was the only dance of the year where grinding was a norm.

WINTER FORMAL

This year the Sophomore class chose to host "Snowball in the Stars" on January 19th at the Worden-Martin car dealership in Champaign. The dance was well attended, and everyone seemed to have fun despite the crack down on music and inappropriate lyrics.

VICE VERSA

The subfreshman class hosted the first vice-versa in recent Uni history. The "Valentine's Day Vice Versa" as it was dubbed was hosted on the first floor on February 15th. Many girls chose to ask guys, with members of the Sophomore class getting very creative!

PARTY TIME!

HALLOWEEN AND WINTER SURPRISE PARTY

Angels, Demons, and Cats, oh my!

This Halloween, students and teachers alike seemed to dress up even more than most years. Every year many Uni students wear inventive and creative costumes to school, and this year was no different. This year, the administration made an effort to educate students prior to the day on what costumes may be offensive.

In Student Council's annual costume contest, many impressive students showed up. Some of the most notable costumes were those by junior Liam Nelson, who dressed as his classmate Sam LeRoy, English teacher Adele Suslick--who dressed as singer Adele–and subbie James Vaughen, who won the costume contest with his costume of "007.5" in an homage to the recently released James Bond movie, "Skyfall." The costume contest also featured group outfits such as the "Things" portrayed by the Michael sisters. As tradition held true, a lot of candy was dispersed at this annual event.

Winter Surprise

The annual Winter "Surprise" party was a fantastic hit. This year chemistry teacher Dave Bergandine talked to students about "reaching an equilibrium." Later on in the ceremony a group of Spanish students, featuring senior George Voulgaris, sang the traditional holiday song "Feliz Navidad." This performance was not without plenty of dancing by Voulgaris (extra credit maybe?!). Next, history teacher Chris Butler gave his annual reading of the holiday story "The Gingerbread Man." This year his story was interrupted by frequent "phone calls" from his wife. He reassured her that everything was fine and he really needed to finish his story.

As typical, the highlight of the event for most students was the wonderful spread of food prepared and donated by parents. Favorite foods included desserts as well as the wonderful selection of fruit that was available. Full and tired, everyone headed off for a well deserved break.

Spirit Week
AREN'T WE ALL SO SPIRITED?

Spirit at Uni typically means wearing a Uni shirt or attending a game when a student doesn't have a test the next day. But for the 2012-13 school year, the run the Boys Soccer team made to the State Championship changed things. The Uni community supported the team and enjoyed a festive soccer pep rally. Attendance at the games hit a new high as fan buses were packed with students in orange and blue.

As the snow continued to fall and the actual Spirit Week rolled around in late January, it seemed more difficult to generate the same excitement. After some discussion, Student Council Executive President Wyatt Bensken announced via email the cancellation of the Spirit Week pep rally "in hopes of de-stressing students."

The lack of a rally did not stop the students from still enjoying other aspects of the traditional week. Announced dress-up days for the week were: Pajama Day, Twin Day, Holiday Day, Teacher Day, and Class Color Day.

Pajama Day remained as the most popular spirit day; many students showed up in fuzzy pjs and sweatpants. Some even came to school in onesies. But even on the less popular Holiday Day, students showed up dressed as Christmas trees, Easter bunnies, and cupids.

Despite the lack of an all-school rally, Spirt Week again proved to be a valuable way for the students and faculty to have fun and break up the doldrums of another cold winter.

Agoramania

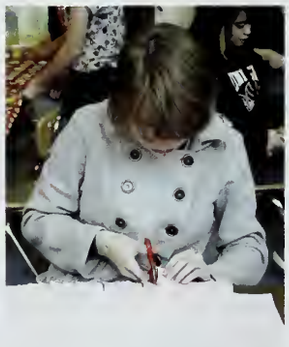
Agora Days is a tradition where students, parents, and interested community members are able to teach classes about something they are passionate about. This unusual week of the school year allows students to take a nice academic break where their classes are replaced with those of their own interests.

Class proposals trickled in at first, and it was announced that Agora would be canceled if there were too few classes. After word spread about not having enough classes, students and faculty members stepped up and proposed many more exciting classes, actually exceeding the amount of Agora classes that can be accepted. This was the second consecutive year that course sign-up took place manually at Kenney Gym. Led again by Agora Director Rebecca Murphy, the sign-up and week of classes went off without a hitch. This year there were over one-hundred and twenty classes offered.

Students which made the commitment to teach an Agora class had the advantage of signing up early. Those who taught academic classes were able to choose their classes within the first ten minutes of lunch. The students who taught non-academic classes had the privilege of signing up during the next ten minutes. After the course instructors had gone through the process, the rest of the students were able to choose their classes during their free periods, Uni period, or after school. For those teaching, this increased the chances of getting the classes that they wanted and served as a benefit for their work during the week. By allowing some students to register early, the traffic to sign up at Kenney Gym was far reduced. Due to fewer students signing up at one time, the process moved much quicker for all. Overall, Agora Days was another great experience this year.

Senior Chae Won Park and freshman Marie Su creatively design their cupcakes with bright colors making the cupcakes look more attractive.

FLOOR HOCKEY!: Junior Lucas Newman-Johnson skillfully passes the puck to other players on the team.

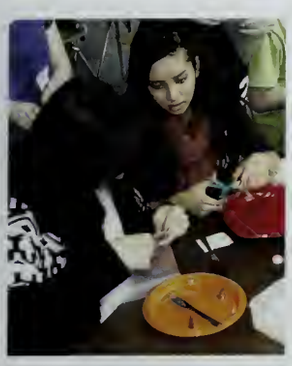


HUMANE SOCIETY: Sophomore Jackie Carrubba cuts strips of fabric to make tie blankets.

PAPERCUTTING WORKSHOP: Subfreshman Andrew Stelzer pays much attention to his project.

BATTERY POWERED MP3 SPEAKER PROJECT: Freshman Neil Tewksbury and sophomore Ansel Higgs construct their mp3 speaker out of batteries and material.

SCHOLASTIC BOWL: Freshman Luke Bull is awed by the presence of candy at his class.



INTRO TO CAKE DECORATING: Juniors Samah Ahmed and Tanisha Afnan learn new cake decorating skills they can use later to wow friends and family.

READ MR. BILD'S COMIC BOOKS: Eugene Bild and sophomore Donna Xia show off their enthusiasm as they read exciting comic books.

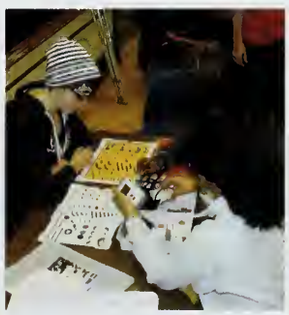
OVERCOMING CULINARY AGORAPHOBIA: 1) Freshmen Makayla Dorsey and Alyson Gerdes are making hot pockets over a fire using wooden dowels. 2) Sophomore Sally Pennachi enjoys her meal that she made with her class. The class cooked steak outside to feel the real experience. 3) Freshman Priya Bhatt patiently waits for the meat to become fully cooked so that the whole class can indulge in. The emotion towards accomplishing this task put everyone on the edge of their feets.

APPLES TO APPLES: Sophomore Andrew Nguyen, Senior Emma Hoyer, Sophomores Vinay Koshy, Joshua Meling, Nicholas Shapland, and Senior Petra Rantanen enjoy each others' company while convincing "the judge" that their card is the best out of all and arguing against each others' points.

SET GAME: Junior Jia Curry-Bild, the teacher of this class, strategizes with William Ahlgren to come up with the best result.

INTERNATIONAL VEGETARIAN COOKING: Junior Izzy Fitzpatrick prepares and presents an enticing meal to her cooking class.

LITERATURE (THE CARD GAME): Freshman Robert Money enjoys his time playing a card game while getting an educational benefit out of it.



INTRO TO ROBOTICS WITH LEGOS: Freshmen Lilly Bralts-Kelly, Jazmin Tweedle, and Tyra Greer take the challenge of creating a robot machine.

PRACTICE TIME! : Junior Jilli Walch stays dedicated through Agora Days by practicing her saxophone during her free period.

EXCITEMENT OF AGORA: 1) Daniel Lian, Ethan Simmons, and Linus Erbach express their excitement while learning Chinese. 2) Sarah Zhang , Joy Chen, Aja Trask, Ally Sussman, Sruti Ekkirala, and Serena Cai admire a sample of paper cut artwork. 3) Juniors Izzy Fitzpatrick, Gloria Ha, Kathryn Powell, and Sam LeRoy skillfully show their moves from the Jane Austen Auxiliary Society class. 4) Kody Carmody strategically chooses the card of his best fit while Ali Taylor and Nicholas Shapland wait for the results. 5) Roberto Chapa gleefully volunteers to be the massagee as Surya Lombela and Anna Kanfer anticipate their turn to come. 6) Ben Schiffer shows his mad skills while calculating the measures needed to take to make a successful robot out of legos. 7) Freshmen Ellen Rispoli and Monica Pardeshi tediously work on completing their required Consumer Economics course online. 8) Subfreshmen Mehul Patnam, Jonah Herzog, and Sam Hotchkiss practice their instruments furiously in hopes of becoming successful musicians. 9) Juniors Nathan Beauchamp, Lucas Newman-Johnson, and senior Andrew Graham use their sly tricks learned in magic class as strategies in their games. 10) Freshman Iulianna Taritsa manages an attempt to perfect her work in the "Overcoming Culinary Agoraphobia" as students experimented with outdoor skills. 11) Sophomore Ben Carlton smiles proudly as he reveals his skill of writing Chinese characters he learned in class. 12) Freshman Even Dankowicz carves part of the wood to construct a design for his battery-powered mp3 speaker. 13) Timmy Purnell finishes the last touches on his baked good with the teacher while Hailan Shanbhag, Ha il Son, and Ella Roth experience the joy of playing with dough.

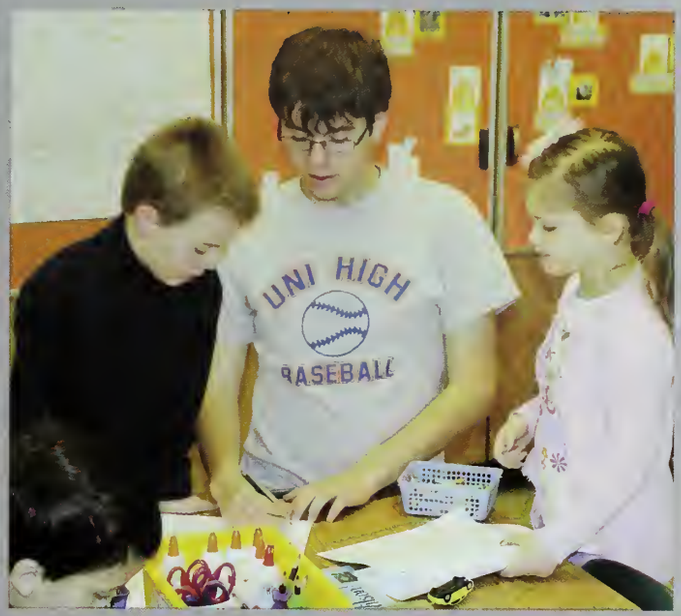
BOTTENFIELD ELEMENTARY EDUCATION MENTORING



Fifteen students from Uni traveled to Bottenfield elementary school for two hours per day to volunteer in the classroom. This year, each group worked in at least one Kindergarten class teaching a physics unit about gravity and force. The Uni students worked with kids by helping them conduct experiments and then recording their data in their journals. The highlight of the week for all was the creation of ramps to show the difference in speed and distance a car can go.

Habitually Helpful

Uni has held onto arguably one of the greatest traditions at the school over the last 16 years: the Agora Days Habitat Trip to Clarksdale, Mississippi. Led by U.S. History teacher Bill Sutton, the trip gives students an inside perspective into one of the most racially isolated and poverty-stricken regions in the country. Ever since 1997, when Uni's affiliation with Habitat for Humanity in the Mississippi Delta began, Mr. Sutton has taken a group to Clarksdale, along with P.E. teacher Doug Mynatt and some other faculty members.

This year, after much commotion over the cancellation of the summer Habitat trip for Uni students, the Agora trip got underway thanks to some awesome fund-raising throughout the year by the Habitat Club at Uni. The club held its annual Habitat Dodgeball Tournament, which raised around $500 to go towards the trip. The tournament was held at Kenney Gym in October, and prizes were awarded to both the winning team of the tournament, and the team sporting the most interesting costumes. Teams showed up wearing everything from UnderArmour to flannel pajamas (which looked rather toasty). Additionally, this was the inaugural year for the Habitat Bake-Off, held in Uni Gym. The event featured the baking talents of 50+ students (although reports indicate some may have required parental assistance), and hundreds of testers who paid $5 to enter the gym and test ten delectable samples. The event raised around $500 for the Habitat chapter in the Delta, and was a rousing success.

This year's Agora Days trip went extremely well thanks to the organizational skills of Mr. Sutton, his son Matt (a Uni alum), Ms. Morford, Doug Mynatt, and Dr. Nuckolls. Dr. Nuckolls was the first administrator to go on the trip, and from all accounts, the students loved having her along. Thanks to a solid fund-raising effort, the trip positively impacted Uni students and the inhabitants of Coahoma County for yet another year.

SLICING INTO TECH PROBLEMS

New this year to the ever-extending list of Uni organizations was the Slice. Headed up by Matt Childress, the notorious computer whiz often seen roaming the halls, the Slice was incorporated to deal with the technology issues, questions, and concerns accompanying Uni's trial of giving laptops to incoming subfreshman for use during the year. The Slice group represented all grade levels and was composed of freshmen Dong Ha Son and Jack Zeiders, sophomores Ema Ondrejckova, Ansel Higgs, and Tommy Song, juniors Colin Althaus, Brooks Hauser, and Peter Ivanov, and seniors Andrew Richardson, Kaila Simpson, and Evan Ramos, who led the way with their tech experience and strong work ethic. Childress offered his take on the mission of the Slice: "It's really about learning how to creatively apply CS/math skills while calming a potentially stressed-out user (subbie) and communicating it back to your team -- communication/leadership skills." Childress went on to say how the Slice is a great thing because it doesn't only help the subbies get their computer needs taken care of, but also allows the Slice team to expand their own individual IT skills at the same time.

An "Eye-Popping" Play

The Uni High Theater crew takes on the Ancient Greek tragedy

A spectacular production is what the Uni High theater fans expect, and that is what the Uni High theater crew delivered during "The House of The Blind", this years Fall play. Weeps and sobs of grief swept the audience as the tragedy unfolded before their eyes.

The story centered around a crown prince called Oedipus. Oedipus is beset with a fate that he will kill his father and marry his mother (The King and Queen of Thebes). His parents send him to a mountainside to die, but he was rescued and raised by the royal family of Corinth. He eventually finds out his prophecy, and escapes to avoid it. Oedipus travels to, of all places, Thebes, killing a stranger on a road. He comes to Thebes, fights and wins against a Sphinx in a game of riddles, and marries the conveniently widowed queen.

Later on, Oedipus finds out that he is his fathers killer, and he is the father of his mothers children. In his anguish, he gorges his eyes out, and proceeds to go into self-exile. His mother and wife commits suicide because of the eternal shame that she will suffer.

Oedipus then wanders to Colonus, a small village near Athens and a holy place to the Furies. Oedipus realizes that he will die at Colonus, fulfilling his prophecy, and opts to stay. Following meeting Theseus, King of Athens, Oedipus met with one of his sons, Polyneices, who was about to attack Thebes and drive out his brother. Oedipus reveals that Polyneices will, in the course of the battle, kill and be killed by his brother. A mighty thunderstorm soon comes, and Oedipus dies in the tempest.

The third and final play of the Theban Plays is Antigone, which centers around the daughter of Oedipus. After the death of her brothers, she tries to bury Polyneices. She was denied it and commits suicide in the end along with her lover and her lover's mother. This concludes the sad tale of Oedipus the King, which comes to life in the North Attic. All in all, the Uni High Theater Company deserved the "4 star" performance evaluation that many think they have earned.

SHAKESPEARE SINGS AT THE MOON LUAU

Young Shakespeare

Written and directed by Addie Grey and Eva Ping

In this Shakespeare spoof, Shakespeare finds a manuscript that he wrote when he was younger and begins to read it. As it folds out on stage, it appears to be a theatrical sandwich of Macbeth, Romeo and Juliet, and A Midsummer's Night's Dream, with quick transitions and questionable characters.

CAST

M'Beth/ Puck	Linus Erbach
Romeo/Bottom	Mikhail Sigalov
Juliet	Caroline Gillette
Hermia/Helena	Maya Lagerstam
Lysander/Demetrius	Coleman Solis
Young Shakespeare	Even Dankowicz

Uni the Musical

Written and directed by Ella Lubienski

Uni the Musical centers around five kids who go to Uni (one from each grade) who get stuck in a room at Uni. They get to know each other and freak out about grades, try to get out of the room and all that other stuff that Uni kids do.

CAST

Subbie	Nicholas Liu
Freshman	Ellen Rispoli
Junior	William Given
Senior	Sarah Keeley

A Midsummer's Night Luau

Written and directed by Grace Anastasio

Based loosely on Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Nights Dream," "A Luau Nights Dream" takes place in the dining room of a retirement home. The story centers around the relationships between four high-school aged waiters in the dining room, and there are several residents, each with their own endearing quirks, whose actions unintentionally drive the plot of the play. The final scene takes place on Luau Night, a theme night at the home in which all the residents, waiters and all the everyday things in the home are "Hawaiinized."

Not Alone

Written by Arch Robison and directed by Evan Ramos

This science fiction "epic" takes place in a somewhat distant and overly optimistic future. Lunar travel has become quite commonplace, and a group of tourists is on their way to a golf resort on the moon's north pole when their spacecraft is struck by a small meteor and disabled. Luckily, they are rescued by an alien observation craft that happens to be in the neighborhood. Not everyone dreams of meeting extraterrestrial life – and some peoples' dreams are nightmares. First contact may be funny, but is it really such a good thing?

Art Memories

Although Uni is most renowned for its academically strong students, many pupils also have an amazing knack for the visual arts. From subfreshman year, where individuals are exposed to basic forms such as painting and sketching through the Interrelated Arts program, students learn to appreciate and develop their artistic abilities. Then, from freshman year on, students are able to take Studio Arts 1 and 2, which help fine-tune basic skills and develop new ones, including sculpting.

During the school year, young artists can display their masterpieces at many different levels: several cabinets in the hallways, newspapers, even local art shows. This year, freshman Natalie Dullerud won second place in the Young Baroque Artist's Competition, which was sponsored by the Baroque Artists of Champaign-Urbana. Her prize included $40 and a display of her artwork in the April 21 BACH concert at McKinley Presbyterian Church in Champaign.

In addition, Art Club meets regularly. During these periods, students can work on class projects or simply pursue any creative work they wish. There's a lot of freedom and opportunity for those inclined to the visual arts at Uni High, and based on the products they have created, it certainly pays off. Some of the best works have been in unique mediums such as clay, charcoal, and oil paints.

Musical Memories

The Uni music department has had a very successful year. One of the bright spots of the year was sending seven students to the Illinois Music Educator Association's All-State Music Festival. Chorus and Orchestra, two classes that split one class period, both held separate concerts in early January. Two smaller groups, Jazz Band and the Madrigals have also had very busy and successful years.

Students who participate in either Chorus or Orchestra are eligible to audition for IMEA all-district festival. 37 students from Uni were selected to attend all-district. The top participators in all-district are then chosen to advance to All-State. In orchestra, senior Petra Rantanen played in the All-State Orchestra, and senior Chelsea Edwards and sophomore Darren Liu played in the All-State Honors Orchestra.

From Chorus, seniors Bissy Michael and Kody Carmody sung in the All-State Chorus, and seniors Juliana Trach and Kaila Simpson sung in the All-State Honors Chorus.

The Madrigals, Uni's only selective musical group, annually perform at significant events throughout the community. This year, they added another event to their repertoire. On Valentine's Day, the Madrigals partnered with the junior class to provide musical Valentines to the students. For two days, the hallways were filled with love songs and surprised Valentine recipients. Uni's Jazz Bands also expanded their reach, when they played at the Autumn Awareness Blood Drive in November.

UNI HIGH ILLINEKS

Dedication Edition

SALLY WALKER

Many people who are unfamiliar with Uni High know it for its academic rigor, but only those closely associated to Uni see its athletic strengths too. One of the most memorable parts of Uni for many students is the fitness program. Our PE program and athletic department are so accomplished because of the longtime commitment of one individual: Sally Walker. We, the students and alums of Uni High, are so grateful to Sally for teaching us that to excel in the classroom, we must also have a healthy body. Sally has taught us lifelong lessons that we won't easily forget and we leave her many thanks for keeping us in tip-top shape for all of these years. Sally: you have taught us commitment, teamwork, dedication, sportsmanship, and what true compassion is. As much as we whine (on a daily basis) you put up with us and you have always put our best interests first. Saying "We Love You" is an understatement. We will not forget what you've done for us, and we are more than thankful. We hope to see you running around C-U!

Thank You,

To Dream...

The 2012 boys soccer season started out with a surprise for the veteran squad: a 2-2 tie to a St. Joseph team which Uni seniors had beaten 17-1 their freshman year. The boys took this as a wake-up call making them aware that they would see an opponents best effort each match. The Illineks concluded their first week of the season by winning their fourth consecutive Uni High Soccer Shootout highlighted by a 2-1 victory against rival Blue Ridge. The brief speed bump that was St. Joe was quickly forgotten as Uni proceeded to tally victories against Central and Mahomet-Seymour.

The Illineks were led by a strong core of seniors, especially the infamous 'Fresh Five': Patrick Wong, Tarik Koric, Paul Seeley, Freddie Stavins, and Alex Mestre. Additionally, the team was commanded by captain, All-American George Voulgaris. Wong, Voulgaris, and Koric controlled the center of the field, distributing the ball to junior midfielders Randall Hornbaker and Peter Ivanov, as well as to Seeley, who played in the left mid position. Wong broke the school record with 99 goals in his Uni career. Voulgaris and his younger brother, Panos, were often seen winning crucial headers side-by-side in the midfield.

"Our victories were highlighted in the journey, but I must say, it was a pretty great destination as well." - Senior Chris Sligar

Uni concluded its' regular season in interesting fashion. A late season match-up with cross-town rival St. Thomas More proved to be tough. On an afternoon with extremely strong winds, the Illineks were forced to play into the wind both halves as the wind changed direction at half and eventually lose 2-1.

While extremely frustrated about the defeat to STM, the squad never lost their focus on the ultimate goal. In a final tune-up for the postseason, Athletic Director Sally Walker was able to make a late addition to the schedule. Uni traveled across town to take on Champaign Centennial in the schools' first ever match. On this evening, not even a rainstorm could not stop the Illineks. Uni defeated Centennial 2-0 and regained their swagger heading into the IHSA playoffs.

SUPER SEELEY: Senior midfielder Paul Seeley is in a full sprint as he tries to keep the ball in play.

Illineks guaranteed to bring back C-U

Another flawless performance has Uni on brink of title

NEW(S) ON THE SCENE

The Illineks' success did not go unnoticed locally as Uni took over The News Gazette sports section front page with their successes three times in a week. PHOTOS REPRINTED WITH PERMISSION OF The NEWS-GAZETTE

TWO'S A PARTY: The Uni guys proudly surround their second-place trophy. While the loss was disappointing, the team acted like true sports.

THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAM

As Coach Phil Anders told the players before Regionals started at the U of I turf fields, "it's just another season." And boy, was he ever right. The Illineks started off their 'second season' with a 4-1 victory against Fisher. After Judah pulled off a stunning 1-0 upset of St. Thomas More, Uni soundly defeated Judah 8-1 to claim the Regional title for the second straight season.

Uni's first Sectional opponent was a talented team from Manteno, which may have proved to be the defining moment of the season for the Illineks. A lightning-filled night postponed the game (played at Schlarman) until the next day. Trailing 1-0 when the game resumed, Uni battled using tenacious defense and goals from George Voulgaris and Paul Seeley to eke out a 2-1 win to advance to the Sectional Final against St. Joseph-Ogden. In a rematch of the season opener, Coach Anders' squad proved yet again that they were one of the best teams in the state, defeating the Spartans 3-0.

For the second straight season, a packed University of Illinois turf field played host to the Super Sectional. Again the Uni community and C-U soccer fans came out in droves to cheer on the team. Unlike the previous year, Uni jumped on their opponents quickly and shut out Macomb 2-0. The Illineks were headed to State for the first time in school history.

The excitement radiated through the school the next two days and culminated in a fantastic Pep Rally which included teachers shooting "PKs", singing the school song, and a police escort for the team bus out of town. The feeling amongst the guys was giddy and following a bus ride to the Corn Crib in Bloomington, the team settled in for a night game. Despite a chill in the air, Uni gave their large crowd all they could ask for as they defeated Rockford Keith Country Day School 2-0 to advance to the championship game the following day.

A highlight for the players during the Keith Country Day match was the HUGE chest-painted, school-spirited crowd's presence. The student body showed up in force with signs and loud voices as well as many families, teachers and Uni alumni.

It was a reserved bus ride back to Bloomington for the State Championship, as the guys got mentally prepared for what they had been working for all season. After a stop at Jimmy John's for lunch, the team arrived at the Corn Crib as dusk began to fall, and the frigid night temperatures set in. Following pregame introductions, Alton Marquette struck quickly. Despite the deficit, the Illineks continued to battle but could not find the back of the net. As the match came to a close, the lone Illinek score was tallied by George Voulgaris in the waning minutes on a PK. What had been a mere dream at the beginning of the season: playing for a State championship, had been realized. The team will be remembered in Uni lore as the team that persevered.

PLAY IT FORWARD

A WEEKEND TO REMEMBER

1) Subbie science teacher Elizabeth Westfall waves a Uni flag as the police escort and bus carrying the team depart for State. 2) A group of Uni students and alums show off their painted chests in support of the team. 3) A group of junior and senior students show off their face paint, wigs, and general school spirit at the Corn Crib in Bloomington. 4) A noticeably proud Athletic Director Sally Walker shows off her State finalist medal. The medals at the finals were handed out by new Uni Associate Director Dr. Jeanette Nuckolls, who is an IHSA executive. 5) Uni High's giant and very supportive crowd is put on display as they urge their boys to victory.

FRENZIED BODIES Crowd support at the team's games at the U of I turf fields and at the Corn Crib in Bloomington-Normal was fantastic. At the State Finals, fans came with signs in support of "Star-ik Tarik [Koric]," "Zeus (George Voulgaris)," and "Hat-Trick Patrick [Wong]."

AIR HOYER Senior Emma Hoyer (14)leaps above the net for one of her many spikes as teammate Abbi Frings (6) and a terrified opponent look on.

Bump and Grind

After losing a large portion of the starting lineup from last year's senior class, the pressure was on this year's team to live up to the past successes. As always, though, a talented group of seniors stepped up to the plate to lead the team to some notable victories. Season highlights include a first-place finish in the Westville tournament, a solid victory against Arthur Okaw Christian in the Block Out Cancer game, and a third place finish in the ECIC Tournament.

The Illineks were led by senior phenom Emma Hoyer who set career records in blocks and kills this year. Along with Hoyer was career assists leader Juliana Trach, and fellow seniors Kaila Simpson and Chelsea Edwards. All four of these seniors played large roles in this year's team battling their way to a 16-13 season.

"The season was a winning one. We had some very high points... our overall record didn't reflect the amount of talent present on the team... there was a huge potential for more success than we received."
- Senior Emma Hoyer

Through a strong rival Deland-Weldon team proved to be the bane of success for this year's team, the season will be remembered for everything but the losses. Most notably, the season highlighted the strong team chemistry and potential of rising stars. Breaking into the rotation this year were sophomore Grace Lilly and freshmen Natalie Dullerud and Lydia Mihaly. Lilly was a strong outside presence and maintained a solid serving percentage, while Mihaly provided glimpses of greatness, getting down for fifteen digs in the Regional loss to Deland-Weldon. Dullerud, who saw the majority of her varsity playing time towards the end of the season, eventually became the libero, playing essentially with free range across the court. Another promising freshman that showed signs of stardom this season was Mariam Arif. Overall, this year's team maintained a high caliber of play, beating a rival Judah Christian team late in the season. Coach Lis Pollock gives big thanks to the seniors and looks to the future.

KEEP CALM AND SPIKE ON

POWER 'N PRIDE Senior Abbi Frings (far left) gets in position to make a hit from the back row. Frings was a strong outside and back row presence this season. Frings leapt into the opportunity, and led the team in digs with 190 on the season.

RUNNIN' ALL OVER THE COMPETITION 1) Senior Gabby Kozlowski leads the girls group from Uni, closely followed by freshman phenomenon Katie Tender. Kozlowski was an integral part of the senior core of runners on this year's girls team. 2) Sophomore Carmen Gewirth works hard and propels herself through the course. Gewirth was one of the team leaders this year, despite only being a sophomore. 3) Freshman Athena Feng pushes herself through the course at the Twin Cities meet at the Arboretum. 4) Sophomore transfer Chloe Yang, who was new to the team this year, gears up for a solid finish at the U of I course.

FAST 'N FURIOUS

What originally looked to be a rebuilding year for the Girls Cross Country team, proved to be anything but that for head coach Doug Mynatt's squad. After losing a strong senior core in the Class of 2012, this year's squad showcased of quality leadership and fresh new talent during the fall season. The team was led by seniors Gabby Kozlowski, Vickie Chang, and Brianna Hajek, all with multiple years of running experience. New to the varsity line-up were freshmen Katie Tender and Berit Hudson-Rasmussen. Tender, who showed unbelievable potential this year, ran a 19:56 at IHSA Sectionals, her best time of the season. Kozlowski served as 'Ms. Consistent' for the girls squad this year, running usually around 21:00. Hudson-Rasmussen, who could often be seen running alongside Tender and Kozlowski showed great potential as well, running 21:38 at the Quad Meet at the U of I Arboretum. Both Chang and Hajek mentored the younger runners on the team, and both turned in great times all season long. The team also looked to the presence of solid sophomore runner Carmen Gewirth. Gewirth set the work example in workouts and could always be seen powering her way through the course. Gewirth and fellow sophomore speedster Maya Dutta stepped up to the plate big time this year for the Illineks. They look to be two natural team leaders next year during their junior season, along with sophomore Alice Trellakis. Other leaders next year will be juniors Jilli Walch and Lara Orlandic. Walch and Orlandic both had solid seasons, with Walch having an excellent season turnaround, vaulting her into the varsity seven by the end of the year. Truly, it was a delightful year for the girls cross country team, and with a host of fresh young talent, they look to continue their recent success in the coming years.

"Running isn't exactly the most pleasurable thing. We had ice cream runs, meets, work outs, and long runs. But when you knew your whole team was going through it together, it made it a little bit easier."
- Sophomore Maya Dutta

DEDICATION. PERSEVERANCE. HARD WORK. THESE ARE ALL THINGS THAT SETS THE UNI GIRLS TEAM APART

FLYIN' BY 1) Junior Lara Orlandic passes a competitor during the meet at the U of I Arboretum. 2) Senior running buddies Vickie Chang and Brianna Hajek pace themselves coming down the big hill at the Arboretum. 3) Sophomore Ailin Valdivia-McCarthy puts on an extra spurt of speed coming down the final stretch. 4) Freshman Kate Ferreira and Junior Alana Rosenbaum run together at the Twin Cities meet, which was the third meet of the season for the girls team. 5) Members of the girls team, upon hearing the sound of the starting gun, race out of the starting position in a pack.

RUN FOR FUN One of the most exciting things about the season is the abundance of ice cream runs. Every Friday before a meet, both the girls and the guys teams run to a local ice cream venue such as Cocomero on campus or Dairy Queen on University Ave.

Givin' it all

With the new uniforms and key returnees, the Boys Cross Country team hasn't ever looked any better. The new uniforms made the boys stand out among other competitors. They were a bright orange color, making quite the fashion statement on the course. Besides their conspicuous dress, their performance at meets captured a lot of attention. The Boys Cross Country team impressively made it to the top rankings. With six key returnees, a loss of one senior, and three freshmen newcomers the cross country team was poised for a strong season. The team was anchored by a group of strong runners in juniors Vinay Shanbhag, Jonny Yockey, Arch Robison, and George Gunter. However, junior Robison was the only runner to participate in the IHSA State meet, placing 66 of 210 runners.

Even though there was only one state qualifier, the rest of the team trained hard. There was competition for varsity spots among junior Bryan Hwu, sophomore Ansel Higgs, and freshmen Marshall Allston-Yeagle, Dong-Ha Son, and Justin Wang.

"This year, competition in our area proved to be especially fierce. Nonetheless we were successful in building up our younger runners. Ultimately sickness and injury hurt our varsity lineup during State series, but we anticipate a solid season next year with high goals."
-Junior Bryan Hwu

The Illineks entered Regionals knowing there were many quality local teams this year. Competition did not stop Uni, as the team grabbed the final qualifying spot to advance to the Sectional meet. Robison placed ninth overall in the Regional. Despite not advancing past Sectionals as a team, the future looks very bright for next season. With a strong group of juniors, and flashy group of sophomores and freshmen runners returning, the boys team looks to make a push for the State meet next year and into the future.

You Otter Swim Fast!

The Uni Girl's Swimming endured a taxing season with some first ever achievements. The Illineks beat Urbana High School for the first time in at least 12 years. The team achieved their highest placement in the Sectionals meet and 95% of the team achieved best times (either personal best or season best) in their Sectional swims. And last but not least, the 2012 squad recorded Uni's All-Time best time in the 200 yard free-style relay. All three relays and five individual swimmers earned places on the medal stand (top six racers in an event), and most other swimmers earned points toward Uni's fourth place finish. It was also one of the biggest teams in years.

"At the beginning of the year I couldn't even swim 25 meters. By the end of the year, I placed first in my heat. Swim team opened many opportunities for me, and introduced me to some of the most phenomenal people I've ever met"

This season the self-named Otters concentrated on "quality based workouts" meaning lots of sprinting with rest periods between efforts. These difficult workouts appeared to pay off with many good swims, as shown by the excellent overall placings of the team.

To change up the pace at times, Head Coach Howie Schein would throw in other workouts like: pulling mesh bags filled with tennis balls tied with a cord to the swimmers, carrying canvas grocery bags filled with bricks the length of the pool (one of the most despised workouts), swimming with bright orange jail jump suits, swimming with hoodies and denim overalls towing a bowling ball in a canvas sack, treading water holding a rock-filled PVC pipe overhead for extended periods, and big ball water polo. The team had a lot of fun with these new workouts and they seemed to pay off.

All in all, the swim team had a lot of fun and, as described by senior Katie Cox, had "one of the most successful seasons in my three years on the team."

DIVING DEEP: Senior Caroline Beshers takes a dive to the bottom of the practice pool to retrieve a bag of rocks -- one of swim team's most dreaded exercises.

Charging Through

The 2012-2013 boys varsity basketball season had its ups and downs. The team lost ten of its players from last year, so it was evident that it would be a rebuilding year for the Illineks. When seniors Tarik Koric and George Voulgaris announced that they would be playing, there was some promise for a good season. All five of the starters this year (Tarik Koric, Patrick Wong, Taharka Baraka, Panos Voulgaris, and George Voulgaris) were also key components of the soccer team's success, so chemistry would not be a problem for the boys.

"We did not win as much as we envisioned, but we still played hard in all our games. Injuries and absences slowed us down a lot, but we improved by the end of the season. All in all it still was fun playing with all my teammates." - Senior Patrick Wong

The Illineks started the season in remarkable fashion by winning the annual Central Illinois Turkey Tournament for the second year in a row. The team, 3-0 at that point, was poised and ready to keep the streak going…but then injuries took over. Senior point guard Nealay Kalita tore his ACL the very next game against Arthur Okaw Christian, and the Illineks lost one of their floor leaders. While that was the most severe injury, the team rarely had a full practice or game with all their players due to other minor injuries and absences.

Even though the boys had major setbacks throughout the season, and while their record did not define their talent, they were able to finish strong. They only lost by three points to powerhouse Decatur Christian, who beat the Illineks by 35 points just a few weeks earlier, in the ECIC Tournament. In that same tournament the varsity boys placed a respectable 5th out of 8. Although the Illineks lost to Heritage in the first game of Regionals, they battled with heart and passion and almost pulled off an upset.

Up and At 'Em

This year, Uni High Girls Basketball team had a strong season, finishing 9-17 overall, but finished the season on an 8-4 run after a slow start. The starters consisted of the three seniors (Emma Hoyer, Kaila Simpson, Juliana Trach) and two freshmen (Lydia Mihaly and Madeleine Nelson) in their first year of playing IHSA ball.

Head Coach Allie Lindemann knew in order to have a successful season her seniors would have to lead from the start. Hoyer reached multiple milestones during the season, scoring her 1000th point and snaring her 1000th rebound. Trach was also a key player, with 75 assists this season. Kaila Simpson was the final senior, grabbing 183 rebounds to help control the paint. Hoyer and Simpson made for an intimidating duo on the boards.

"The first half was rough. We had new players. We had a new lineup. We had to get used to that. But when we came back from winter break, it was worktime and we did well. - Senior Kaila Simpson

Despite losing three close games throughout the season to eventual conference champ Decatur Lutheran (LSA), the girls team this year pulled off a second place finish in both the regular season conference and in the conference tourney.

This year's freshmen were also key parts of the Varsity team. Madeleine Nelson had 46 steals for the season, and Lydia Mihaly was also a solid player, averaging 3 points per game, along with 8 assists for the season. The team started with a close victory against Chrisman, winning 44-41, but had a slow midseason with 13 consecutive losses, including a narrow 41-45 loss to Villa Grove. The team picked it up when conference play started though, starting with a 44-20 victory over Cornerstone Christian. The girls didn't slow down after that, going 7-4 for the rest of the season. In conference play, the team ended with a 6-3 conference record. Overall, the presence of senior leaders and a group of promising freshmen point to exciting seasons in the years to come.

JV Girls Volleyball

The 2012 season marked Ashley Tsosie-Mahieu's first year as junior varsity volleyball coach, and Matt Childress' second. Each year at the JV level coaches start the year with many players that are new to volleyball. This season was no exception, as the Illineks spent most of the year working on skill development and understanding the standard varsity rotation or the more basic skills of getting your serve "in to win" and "call it, maybe?" While all of the girls worked hard and improved by leaps and spikes, there were several key players at the JV level that stood out.

While she'd played volleyball in middle school, Grace Peacock was asked to try setting for the first time. She was an awesome leader and teammate both on and off the court and helped several of our players who were new to volleyball keep their rotations legal while running the teams' offense.

"I loved getting to know everyone better -- it was a great bonding experience with my peers. We managed to stick together through all the ups and downs. Although we didn't win every game, I had a great time!"
- Sophomore Julia Miller

Thea Kammerling stepped up defensively in the back row so that by mid-season she had earned the libero's jersey, a different colored uniform specifying her as a defensive specialist position. Her attitude kept things up-beat all season long.

By the end of the season, the JV's roster had fluctuated significantly due to players moving up to varsity. Overall the team defeated Decatur Christian twice by double-digit margins! Although there were several other losses, the team kept in high spirits and came out of their last game with a respectable and memorable season.

The players joined varsity in several team-building activities, such as a student organized lock-in in Kenney Gym, lots of drills, and of course cheering each other on during games. Overall, they acquired new skills and improved old ones, all the while bonding and having a lot of fun.

SPIKE! Returning sophomore Sally Pennacchi, a standout player throughout the season, jumps up for a spike at a practice game.

JV Boys Soccer

The University High School boys soccer team has had a very successful run during the past fifteen plus years. The reason for that success has been some extremely talented players who played key roles. With a team composed almost entirely of freshmen, they were often physically out matched, but this was never the case when it came to technical ability and cleverness of play. The guys showed tremendous courage when facing three varsity squads over the course of the season, they were able to compete with all of them and played their best game of the season in a 2-1 win against the Decatur Lutheran varsity team.

"Although we didn't win all our games, we played well together and still did a great job. We had an amazing season with lots of great results, and I can't wait to do it all again next year."
- Sophomore Isaak Haberman

Other highlights of the season include Lyle Regenwetter's goal against Oakwood that came within 30 seconds of the start, and Will Ahlgren's lob from distance against Warrensburg-Latham. Coach Joe Krehbiel says that he is "confident that this freshman class has the potential to surpass the accomplishments of this years varsity team. I hope that this year has served to show some of the younger players what Uni High is capable of when it comes to soccer."

The team was definitely well-rounded, with strong freshman starters and sophomore goalie Isaak Haberman, who also served as a backup goalie for the varsity team at Super Sectionals and State, and recorded 65 saves throughout the season. The team really meshed well with the varsity squad, as well, and the whole group learned a lot from each other throughout the course of the season. The boys JV looks forward to another great season next year, with every player returning.

JV Boys Basketball

The Junior Varsity boy's basketball team entered the season without any returning starters and was mainly composed of a group of freshmen who were ready to play hard. While the season started off slowly, with a record of 0-8, and failing to score over 20 points in five of those games, the JV Illineks picked up the pace with two monster consecutive victories over Deland and Normal Calvary, winning 26-14 and 42-34 respectively.

The players worked extremely hard at practice as third year coach Tony Rizzo made them do lots of conditioning drills that also incorporated the basketball, it was not just running. The hard work and dedication seemed to pay off in the second half of the season, as the young Illineks came together and played with hard fought passion. Despite their 2-3 record to finish off the season, Coach Tony Rizzo said "The JV season had its ups and downs but it was a pleasure working with all of the kids, I hope they learned from me as much as I learned from them." Much like the Varsity boys basketball team, the JV team was also plagued by injury. Key freshman big man Luke Bull and freshman guard Jonathan Wang suffered season-ending ankle injuries; both were key contributors to the success of the team.

"I thought we did well. We tried hard no matter the outcome, and didn't give up. I don't think the record really reflects the season. After the first half, we really improved but we still couldn't overcome some of those larger teams. If we could increase our size, our record would have been greatly improved."
- Freshman Jacob Rajlich

While the young Illineks ended the season with a losing record, the boys gained experiences that will prove to be vital in years to come.

SWISH! Sophomore big man Coleman Solis zeros in on the rim as he gets ready to shoot his free-throw.

JV Girls Basketball

The Junior Varsity girl's basketball team had a tough season this year. The team lost many of last year's starters to varsity, resulting in a rebuilding season for the girls. The team was mainly composed of freshmen, which meant that there would be a lot of inexperience.

The Illineks were mainly led by MVP Kate Ferreira, scrappy point guard Raebekkah Pratt-Clarke, junior Alice Rietz, freshman Maddie Brown, and freshman Natalie Dullerud.

Even though the team did not record a victory this season, it was evident that the girls were improving in each game. In an early season game versus LSA, the girls suffered through a grueling 33-3 defeat. They kept their heads up and grinded through the season under the motto "Practice hard, play hard!" Their hard work and dedication during practice paid off weeks later when they played LSA again and only lost by twelve points. As Head Coach Jordan McCann said, "Coming in as a new coach at the beginning of the year, I was very excited to see how much the players would learn and grow." Despite having a losing record, the girls JV bonded with the varsity and picked up valuable skills that will contribute to the quality atmosphere in the gym next year.

"This year was a great learning experience. We were able to keep a positive attitude, bond, and count each point as a small victory. Hopefully, next year we will have better chemistry with our new coaches and still have just as much fun." - Junior Alice Rietz

Their skills definitely improved, that is for sure. Now that the learning experience is over, the girls look forward to a promising season in winter 2013.

Subbie Sports

This year, many members of the Class of 2017 participated in one of the three sports offered to subbies: cross country (boys and girls), girls and boys basketball. For many students, subbie sports may be the first time they have played sports, due to Uni's no-cut policy. Overall, each sport performed well and they should look forward to some good seasons competing at the high school level.

Subbie XC: Subbie XC had a great season this year, as both the boys and girls squads advanced to State. This was the first time both teams in the same season had gone to State in coach Doug Mynatt's 18 years of coaching. The girls team was led by Annemarie Michael, whose 2nd-place individual performance at State led her team to a 6th-place finish. Other strong performers were Zina Dolan (30th), Tori Aber (35th) and Ha-il Son (41st). The boys team also had a solid group of runners this year, finishing in 20th at State. Isaac Freund led the team, finishing in 60th. Other key members of the boys team were Jonah Herzog (98th), Henry Wilson (119th) and Camron Butler (147th).

Subbie Girls Basketball: This year's team consisted completely of players who were practically new to basketball, having never played on an actual team before. Thus, Head Coach Rebecca Murphy had to start with the basics, and her coaching led her team to improve greatly over the season. The players went from not knowing the different types of inbounds to being able to attack a full-court press and play different offensive strategies based on the other team's defense. The team did well, considering many of the other schools had teams composed of girls who had played together for multiple years. The team ended the season 2-11, winning against Next Generation in both of their contests. Their first victory was by a wide margin, but the second was a close game throughout. Besides playing together on the court, the girls also bonded as friends, having a pizza party and going to an Illinois women's basketball game.

Subbie Boys Basketball: Uni Alum and current freshman history teacher, head coach Ben Leff led the team to a 6-11 season. The Illineks were led by big man Varun Chopra, who averaged just under 22 points per game and scored 34 in an overtime loss to Holy Cross, including a three-pointer that sent the game into overtime. Another key player was Daniel Meling, who averaged three assists per game. On the defensive end, Daniel Vardy led the team in blocks, averaging one per game.

Coach Leff, a former captain of his Uni High teams reflected on the boy's season, "We had a good time and had a solid year but couldn't quite pull off wins against strong competition–we lost 6 games by five points or less. This class has some talent and I can't wait to see them get those wins against quality opponents in the coming years."

Smarter Across the Board

The 2012-2013 Chess season was marked by the return of many former team members as well as newcomers. Hopes were high for the team to do well this season, especially with last year's fourth place finish at the IHSA State Finals tournament. Team practices were held every Monday and Thursday, and the team was coached by Mr. Merli. The season officially began on the fourth of October, where the first East Central Illinois Chess League was played at Siebel Center. Out of the nine schools in the ECICL, Uni was the only school to remain undefeated in the league matches. Uni's varsity lineup consisted of both veterans and newcomers, but they came together to secure a solid first place finish for Uni at the end of the match.

"I think at State we were doing really well, except the last match, if we won we would have gotten second, but since we lost we got ninth, and basically what happened was a lot of the games we were counting on ended up dropping their games. They had won positions, but they just blew it and lost." - Senior George Ruan

Uni's chess squad had a short reprieve until the State Finals, which were held at Peoria on February 8th and 9th. The State Finals consisted of 135 teams that gathered together to compete in a grueling two-day mental brawl. Uni was projected to finish fourth in the tournament, but the team was striving for first. A disappointing loss against rival Chicago school Whitney-Young still gave hope for a second or third place finish, but another defeat to Skokie's Niles North led to the team placing ninth overall. The team is expected to graduate three of it's players this year, but expectations are still high for next year's season.

"The 2012-2013 season was one of unfufilled expectations. Having returned nearly all of its members from the previous season and having bolstered its line-up with strong new players the team hoped to once again reach the top of the state championship tournament. Fetish...isn't that a type of cheese? You know, fetish cheese! - Sarah
Liam: So, should I bring a chicken to class then?
Mr. Vaughn: Not unless you want me to hurt you.
You sneaky little Gomez! - Megan
I am one educated mo-fo and you don't want me messing around with your toilet! - Mr. Sutton
Wait, don't all vegetarians lick their hummus? - Vickie
Wait, Rome is in Italy?! - Vickie (after months in Latin class)
Pues...si, si! - Abbi
It matters not how strait the gate, how charged with punishments the scroll. I am the master of my fate. I am the captain of my soul. - William Ernest Henley

I, Grace Anastasio of sound mind and body, leave the following things to the following people: Kate gets a Hawaiian hat and the best part in every play, Linus gets perfectly delivered, cheesy pick up lines, and Mikhail gets a deep enough voice to say "mmhmm." Izzy gets as many roses as she could ever want. Nacho (Isaak) gets rude, implicative Twitter spam, and Tristán gets fluency in Spanish. Mara gets sparkly orange face paint. Alice gets killer dodge ball skills that will lead the next year's Blondies to victory. Last but definitely not least, Anna gets a perfect country twang, every T-Swift album ever created, an amazing senior year, and everything else. Thanks to my teachers, parents, amazing brother, and unforgettable friends for making these five years so great! I will miss you all!

Nobody asked you! - Ms. Boca
This is why nobody loves you.... - Ms. Boca
You're not gonna make music if it's just flopping around like that - Ray
The more holes you have the more you can penetrate - Joel Beesley
Collar bones...you should really look into breaking yours - Paul Seeley
That's what she said! - Michael Scott
If I had a gun, with two bullets, and I was in a room with Hitler, Bin Laden and Toby, I would shoot Toby twice. - Michael Scott
There is no such thing as an appropriate joke, that's why it's a joke - Michael Scott
Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things that you didn't do than by the ones you did do. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover. - Mark Twain

I, Wyatt Bensken, being of quick witted mind and attractive body hereby bequeath the following to the following: Bryan gets my everlasting love and brothership! Anna gets all the high-fives ever wanted. Chas gets the ability to lead the masses. Vinay gets someone else to call him Vinny. Andrew gets the cashier at Coldstone, and along with CR and Diego: more buildings to climb. George, Bryan, David, Johnny, and Vinay get my thanks for great memories in xc. Johnny, Havah and Mara get Habitat club. Mara, Maya, Sierra, Max, Gloria, Alice, and Chas the Subbie Buddy Program. Bruce gets video squad. Donna, Ashley, Michelle, and Joy get more trust falls and another fun year of yearbook. Maddie gets someone else to talk to, to listen to rant, more videos, Matt Nathanson, but most importantly a constant reminder that she's a really awesome friend and pretty cool person. To all those students I have left out: my apologies but I have limited room! To all of my teachers I leave a huge thank you for everything. Shout out to: Doug, Sally, Merf, Bees, Bill, Mr. Stone, Karl, Rachel, and Lisa for making me the person I am today. Thanks to all those (the math department) who put up with my shenanigans for 5 amazing years.

Dance is music made visible. - George Balanchine
And though she be but little, she is fierce. – Shakespeare (Midsummer Night's Dream III.ii)
We are all a little weird and life is a little weird, and when we find someone whose weirdness is compatible with ours, we join up with them and fall in mutual weirdness and call it love. - Dr. Seuss
Just to be onstage, I think it is such a luxury for us to live so many lives… once Juliet, or another Juliet, or another Giselle…you get to be in love or to die or to be betrayed so many times, that maybe I don't think anyone will live in one life so much as they can live onstage. - Alina Cojocaru
Whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable – if anything is excellent or praiseworthy – think on these things. - Philippians 4:8

I, Erin Kelly Berl, being of musical mind and ballerina body bequeath the following: To Mads, someone else to lead, be flustered with the pitch pipe, and wear shades at questionable times. To Shawn, a new stand partner to annoy with invented parts and more chances to conduct. To the subbies of Spanish 1, my thanks for the entertaining times and the best of luck for the future. To Carmen, patience for Spanish next year. To LIFE Club, my apologies for not being more involved and my hope that they do well in the future. To Hailan and Michelle (and Marie), representation of Uni at the dance studio, lengthy tech weeks, a million more merde gifts, my promise to visit, and my love. To Mr. Rayburn, a delightful poem for his pocket and thanks for his kindness. To Mr. Sutton, an endless supply of crummy apple cores (a few good ones, too) and my sincere thanks. To Mr. Murphy, organized music, "Come, Soothing Death" and Requiem, and my thanks for supporting me in all the arts. Thanks to Rachel for having my back and to Lisa for endless wisdom. To those open to advice, "Don't let your dreams be dreams."

Lea Slauch I leave you the gift of having to be the craziest person of the group. To Liam Nelson I leave you your gaggle of girls. To William Givens I leave nothing but the memories of stud prod and how I wanted to kill him. To Mika I leave Harry Potter and head of Hufflepuff house.
Now to everyone who has helped me on my journey I leave my love and memories. May you laugh, live, and love. This comes from the slightly insane mind of Sarah Keeley. Witnessed by both Aileen Chu and Kathryn Powell.

For what prevents us from saying that the happy life is to have a mind that is free, lofty, fearless and steadfast--a mind that is placed beyond the reach of fear, beyond the reach of desire, that counts virtue the only good, baseness the only evil, and all else but a worthless mass of things, which come and go without increasing or diminishing the highest good, and neither subtract any part from the happy life nor add any part to it?
A man thus grounded must, whether he wills or not, necessarily be attended by constant cheerfulness and a joy that is deep and issues from deep within, since he finds delight in his own resources, and desires no joys greater than his inner joys. - Seneca
How 'bout no? - Liam
Uns uns uns - Leif

I, Sunjay Koshy, being of serene mind and sound body, leave the following things to the following people: To my brother, Vinay, I leave my achievements and reputation to surpass. To Eric Kong, a robot to summarize flowcharts and help him with Latin homework. To Marie Su, I leave a bat to hit Eric with whenever he gets annoying. To Lyle Regenwetter, thousands upon thousands of paper clips for you to chain together to your heart's content. To Tommy Song, a bag of your favorite candy. To the WILL interns, present and future, I wish you luck in producing what I am sure will be outstanding oral history projects. And to everyone at Uni, hail and farewell.

I am Minerva, the village poetess,
Hooted at, jeered at by the Yahoos of the street
For my heavy body, cock-eye, and rolling walk,
And all the more when "Butch" Weldy
Captured me after a brutal hunt.
He left me to my fat with Doctor Meyers;
And I sank into death, growing numb from the feet up,
Like one stepping deeper and deeper into a stream of ice.
Will someone go to the village newspaper,
And gather into a book the verses I wrote?--
I thirsted so for love!
I hungered so for life!
Edgar Lee Masters, "Minerva Jones"

I, Lyric, being of small body and eccentric love leave: To my love Alana, random trips to the Beef Stand, Mean Girls quotes and the proper Snooki to her Deena. To Kavi I leave weekly lunches, buttercream sandwiches and random hallway hugs. To Marie and Carter I leave mountain chill, random County Market trips, Channing Tatum, hunks of meat and a bottle opener to open that Mexican soda. To Michelle I leave double and Latin conventions. To Jack I leave a COOKED pizza. To Justin I leave my birthday cake lipgloss. To Beth Geistlinger I leave long bus rides with cute couples, morph suits and lots of food. To Tanisha I leave the hallway of DCL to run through as she pleases, falling down preferably. To Ella I leave chorus, a e-book to read in math, and our beautiful singing. Finally to my Latin class I leave all my love!

Gentlemen, welcome to the square. Let's start off the ride with a good topic... Oh hey Bill! - The Square

Regards to my loveliest underclassmen,
I bequeath upon thee my possessions in my soon-to-be absence, with special regards to the following:First and foremost, to Bill and Taharka, I bequeath upon you leadership of the square(it's not a cube George), with condition that (you know who) is brought up at least once an assembly. Individually, to Taharka the $1 fries Beefstand runs. To Bill cravings. To Chapa, good luck winning 3v3's by yourself. To Kate, prairie play :D (to David, arboretum :D). Lucas, my man, the late night Carle swings are all yours now! To Kate and Taharka, summer nights at Georges house are still a thing. Ali I liked the whale (even,though it looked like a walrus), so to you I give some better whale drawing skills. Chris Bauer, our name rests solely with you now... don't die. I was told to also give to Grace Lilly by Jefferson Fu, but I don't really know you so awk. To all field biology students, GET YOUR BUGS EARLY!! But also don't stress too badly over them. Most importantly, remember to enjoy life... none but ourselves can free our minds.

I, Veronika, leave the following things. To the volleyball team, I leave fun bus rides, amazing new players with lots of talent, Lis, an understanding coach, a crazy lock-in at Kenney and successful seasons in years to come. To Mara, I leave a lot of singing and dancing, and to Anna, I leave fun conversations in soccer and adventures in Spain. To Mary, I leave craziness and humor, and good times in health together. To Lara, I leave Serbian-Croatian parties and all the times we used to hang out around our neighborhood and go to Walgreens. I leave all the amazing friends I have made in the past years and the excellent teachers who have taught me so much. And to Lisa, I leave gratitude for always being optimistic and welcoming, and helping me get through the college process.

I, Freddie Stavins, being of sound mind, and progressively toned body, do hereby leave the following to those who remain at Uni: First and foremost, to my brother, Robert, the title of coolest and strongest Stavins at Uni, right D, and my social skill set. Much love, buddy. To Clairebear, I leave Twix, locker notes, awkward looks in the hallway, tons of love, my cross, and the knowledge that you CAN do anything you set your mind to. Stay true to you. Oh, and Robert, too. :P To Anna banana, Snapchats, awkward confrontations. To MD, good memories, a contagious laugh, and hip compliments. To Randall, a butt & some new green F50s. To Lucas and Taharka, the back line, defensive handshakes, hustle, and tenacity. Do work. To Carm, many laughs, barn trips, walks to PE, purple shirts, and Agora running! To Smag, smiles in the hall, Skyping from foreign places, the desire to play soccer. To Chas, not much (the Cubs). To Peter, Eminem mixtapes. To Bryan, the ability to start his van at future Barn Bashes and 5k moments. George and Arch, state success! To Andreward, such a cool nickname and fun fitness classes. To Jackson, a more stylish haircut. haha you're the man! To Mary Evans, walks, horseradish-scented cologne, and fun times in study hall. To Isaak, exciting hallway moments. ;) To Ailin, a cooler family than mine (especially Rhiannon). To Maya, something good, so you'll realize I'm not a bad guy. To Chris Bauer, eloquence. To Panos, a growth spurt like George's. Finally, to all the teachers who have helped and inspired me the last 4 years, many thanks, especially to DS, DB, Sal, BS, LM, CB, BV, JM, HCR, and Gwyn and Barb. You've made me into who I am today. SUBBIE YEAR

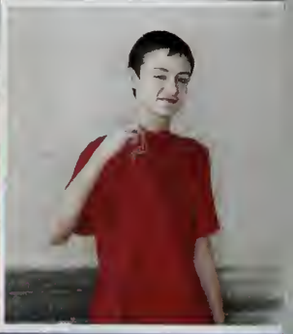
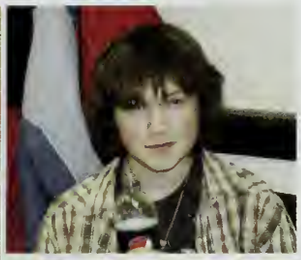
We start the year with Dr. Epperson and 64 classmates. We're the first class to grace the newly tiled third floor. After one quarter with us, Greyson heads back to Paxton. Ariana M. leaves after the first semester. We have a subbie buddy sponsored Halloween Party and the only Halloween dance of our Uni career. We watch Obama get elected on TVs placed throughout the school. Brianna has an all-class ice skating party. Bissy falls down the stairs, bruises her tailbone, and has to sit on a donut pillow. We make book covers in ISS for Marc Aronson's book, "Race," which are then displayed at the last culture fair. Edo, Chelsea, Henry, Max, and Yulun win the regional MathCounts competition. Freddie and Veronika go outside. Sarah Vaughen is the only member of the subbie girls cross country team, and takes 18th place at state. Max is Romeo in the Stud Prod play "Romeo and Juliet Revisited." Wyatt goes to the Presidential Inauguration and Junior Presidential Youth Inaugural Conference and comes back bragging that he got three girls' phone numbers. Unlike current day, it snows and the winter surprise party is canceled. Sunjay, Matthew, Liam, and Yulun are known as the "Luggage Subbies." Student Council sponsors a movie night where we all enjoy "Ratatouille" and juice boxes. Charlotte is known as hat girl. Katie, Alex, and James plan an all-class lock-in, where we get a dodgeball stuck in Uni Gym's ceiling. Over half the guys get the chance to experience Mr. Murphy's coaching in subbie basketball. The prox card system gets installed. And we can finally use it on March 16. Lettuce is put in the elevator, shutting it down for a month. Kaila gets an amazing solo in West Side Story. Amnahir leaves.

Relationships: Alex x Vickie, Nealay x Megan, Bissy x Freddie, Tarik x Veronika, Juliana x Joey Smith, Emma x Will Fernandez, Alex x Bissy, Miriam x Edo, Charlotte x Max, Wyatt x Veronika, Jack x Katy Metcalf, Charlotte x Stirling

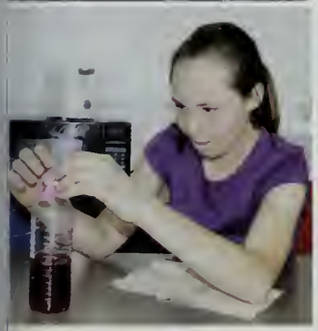


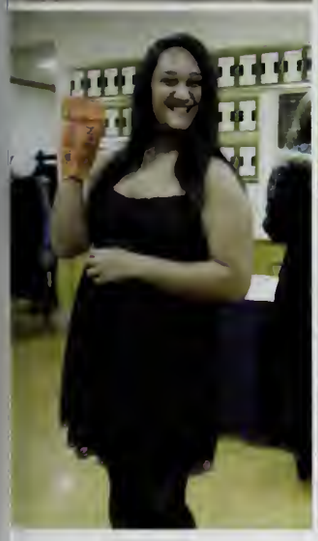
FRESHMEN YEAR



After much deliberation the previous year, Doc Walk is the new director of Uni. Drew joins us from St. Matts. Sarah Dewhurst leaves the SSO. Patrick, Tarik, Paul, Alex, and Freddie form the boys varsity soccer Fresh Five. Veronika goes on a semester sabbatical to California. Runelle and her pigs leave the library at the end of the first semester, but Paul takes her place. Karena leaves in the middle of the year. Boys XC takes 9th place in state. We have the first Uni High Homecoming dance. In November, "sand" closes the elevator for the rest of the year. Food Pantry Club provides us with a Thanksgiving Food Sale for the first time. We participate in our first winter surprise party. Wyatt becomes DOBO and Beesley retires as head boys basketball coach. The boys basketball team turns Kenney Gym pink while hosting the first annual Coaches vs Cancer game. David and Erin are in Madrigals. Jonathan Kuck goes to the Olympics and wins a silver medal. We're all swarmed by emails for Haiti relief, and end up raising over $14,000. Habitat for Humanity Club hosts their first dodgeball tournament. Stirling wears his first clock in a yearbook picture. Over half the class is out one day due to swine flu. We're all then offered a vaccine to prevent further illness. Will Fernandez offers us all free breakfast as part of his Student Council campaign. The senior prank causes damage, and far too many all-school emails. Ryan McAllister puts a Big Mac in a Comp. Lit. 2 presentation and subsequently heads down under to avoid retaking the class. Aaron, Melissa, and Matthew Meyer leave.

Relationships: Juliana x Joey Smith, Emma x Will Fernandez, Freddie x Mary Evans Dickerson, Alex x Mara Dolan, Paul x Mary Evans Dickerson



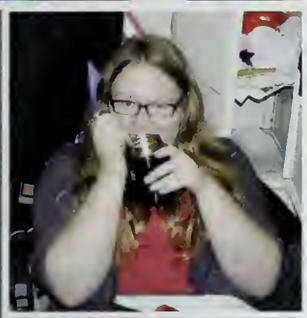


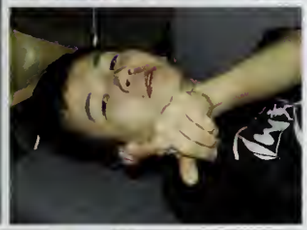
SOPHOMORE YEAR

Nora, George V., and Maria join our class. Lyric asks Mr. Bergandine to call her "Ricky." Kenney Gym gains a prox card system, replacing Brad the security guard. Ms. Lombardi is the new journalism teacher. Brianna, Bissy, Juliana, Kody, and Kaila join Madrigals. Lots of us take Drivers Ed. We make moles for Chemistry class. Chelsea is chosen for IMEA All-State in violin. Alex, Edo, and Ryan form Jake and Amir Club. Leif, under his musical alias Rind releases the CD "War Balloon". Mr. Bild has us sing math-themed carols at the Winter Surprise Party. We play tug-of-war at the Spirit Week assembly. Uni Period makes its first appearance, from January 10-28. Wyatt, Grace, and David plan a "Peppermint Paradise" winter formal. Emma breaks school records. David is the first in the class to take a U of I class. Chelsea takes her first public bus ride. We rally together to raise money again, this year for Japan. We have a blizzard, and school is closed for an amazing two days, February 1 and 2. Ms. Linder gets the lyrics for "Wuthering Heights" by Kate Bush stuck in our heads. Alex and Ryan make conspicuous pizza sales before chemistry class. We are all Ms. Nolan's boos for a few weeks. Herr Gotafski proposes to the Mademoiselle Kleinhample. Mr. Bergandine coaches us through the process of the Google Science Fair. Maria puts stinky tofu in Alex Mestre's locker. Ms. Ridenour directs her last Uni show, Kiss Me Kate, before retiring, leaving us to wonder if we'll ever see the videos we made in Interrelated Arts. Alex Valdez leaves for UHS. Ito Sensei and Andi leave. Morris leaves as well, causing us to worry that the class of 2016 won't learn the best brand of paper towel.

Relationships: Juliana x Joey Smith, Emma x Will Fernandez, Wyatt x Ashley Huddson, Ryan x Gabby

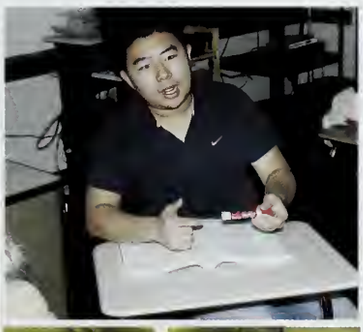
JUNIOR YEAR





Sarah K. joins the class. It's Uni's 90th birthday! Uni Period officially begins. Many of us get a year with Innami Sensei. An incident with male members of the class at Homecoming causes the new dance guest form to be implemented. Andrew R. takes the lead in The Night of the Living Dead. A new first semester finals schedule is sprung upon us without any warning. For Halloween, Mr. Rayburn is Dirty Laundry and Mr. Russell is Pi Guy. After 10 years of key jingling and lovingly telling us to "Get your butt off that table!" Sue Kovacs departed Uni at the end of the first semester. Patrick hits a buzzer beater. Mr. Russell, Mr. Bergandine, and Mr. Stone take on temporary roles as assistant directors to fill Kovacs's spot. The majority of our prox cards expire. Mr. Sutton harasses an opossum during the winter finals period. Boys basketball goes to Regional finals. We get new score-boards and floor mats. The Wabash College Glee Club performs during a Uni Period. Coaches vs Cancer becomes an all day event and raises $2,438. We break Ray's Van de Graaff generator. Boys soccer makes it to the Super Sectionals, and girls basketball gets to the sectional finals. Stephanie Kovacs visits for a day and teaches an acting class. Merf does Agora with smashing success. Wyatt, Bissy, and Edo go on the Agora Habitat Trip. Wyatt, Grace, Kaila, Edo, and Katie plan "A Night to Remember" prom, where Patrick and Veronika are crowned prom prince and princess. Alex and Edo make it to the state quarterfinals in tennis. Sra. Finch leaves at the end of the year. Jo Ellen leaves us for Canada.

Relationships: Joey Smith x Juliana, Stirling x Charlotte, Patrick x Veronika, Drew x Megan James, Bissy x Sid Madhubalan,



SENIOR YEAR

Uni is inundated with orange traffic cones. Stricter prox card rules are enacted and Warren-G makes detention a Uni policy. Grace writes and directs a censored Stud Prod play. Cracked and Shanghai 1938 come to Uni. Girls swimming beats Urbana and Centennial. Boys soccer gets second in state and is sent off to state with quite possibly one of the best assemblies ever. Mr. Butler has an overactive iPhone, and Mr. Bergandine is surprisingly inspirational at the Winter Surprise Party. Lance Armstrong is exposed. At an assembly honoring Dr. Ned Goldwasser, a struggle for the mic ensues. Boys basketball is plagued by illness, injury, and absence. IMSA Student Government members visit us. George Voulgaris gets the first detention in Uni High history; a few weeks later detentions are temporarily suspended. Warren-G talks of an explicit music policy in the lounge. Ryan, Edo, and Freddie place first in the grade 10-12, 2013 Toshiba/National Science Teachers Association ExploraVision regional competition with their project TEVIA Tech (Tixel Enabled Visually Impaired Assistive Technology). Chelsea, Petra, Kody, Bissy, Kaila, and Juliana go to IMEA All State. Rajlich Manifesto. We have a town hall meeting to deal with rising tensions between students and administrators. Dr. Nuckolls joins the Agora Habitat for Humanity trip and witnesses Freddie cat daddying. We have an official tennis team. Uni holds a blood drive in honor of Joe Seeley and Uni students run in the first ever Not Your Average Joe 5K/5Mi. Mr. Vaughn leaves Uni for a year. George V. falls spectacularly while skiing on the senior trip. Spring Break is extended one more day due to snow storm on March 25th. We get into colleges, and decide what we will do next year. Senior supper. Senior handprints. We graduate!

Relationships: Patrick x Veronika, Drew x Megan James, Ryan x Bissy, George R. x Athena Feng, Charlotte x Stirling, Andrew F. x Ruth Kahn

Class of 2013
PROPHECY

Grace Anastasio becomes the next head of Planned Parenthood. Wyatt Bensken moves to rural Kentucky, where human-animal marriage is legal, and finally marries his tarantula. Erin Berl becomes the host of Dance Moms in its twelfth season. Caroline Beshers works as a research biologist, artificially inseminating butterflies. James Boyle becomes responsible for 85% of the United States' grape juice consumption by 2021. Nora Buss becomes the next love interest on Grey's Anatomy. Henry Carlton after a series of genetic testing, determines he is 3.125% dragon. Kody Carmody becomes an international spy. Vickie Chang becomes a wealthy businesswoman, and to overcome the stigma of being voted "biggest mooch," donates millions to charity. Katie Cox marries, and subsequently changes her last name to the far less sexually explicit "Johnson." Chelsea Edwards commercially grows her own hair for use as a textile, and it becomes a luxury fabric, replacing silk. Miriam Ferede becomes a distinguished professor of language and international studies who is fluent in 323 languages including Wingdings, Klingon, and Elvish. Andrew Ferguson becomes a SSBM pro and gets endorsed by Nike and Oakley. He keeps his opponents Ferguessen about his elaborate tactics. Abbi Frings is mistaken as Amanda Seyfried and attends the 2020 Oscars. Jefferson Fu opens his own Internet gaming cafe at Granger. Jack Gillette rocks stages worldwide—from Miami to Ibiza—as Avicii's personal secretary. David Gong becomes a hair model and wears hats for a living. Andrew Graham turns Mr. Sutton's TelePictionary into an online game capable of being played on mobile devices by friends all over the world. Leif Hague gets a 10/10 rating by Pitchfork for his LP, "Rind," and is subsequently launched into super stardom. Brianna Hajek runs her fiftieth half-marathon with her bunny, S'more. Emma Hoyer, after a stellar athletic career at Millikin, works as the owner of a Decatur-based youth athletic center and as a teacher. Nealay Kalita has to have his headphones surgically removed in 2031. Ariana Kamberelis opens a nationwide chain of 4-H summer camps. Sarah Keeley establishes a long legacy of Irish-American doctors who wear Northwestern sweatshirts. Tarik Koric reportedly does a pull-up on July 18, 2018, although witnesses will say he was kicking. Sunjay Koshy sends a sample of his nose tissue to scientists, who develop it into the most pleasingly squishy and effective stress ball ever made. Gabby Kozlowski is finally old enough to drive a car after graduating medical school. Ryan Kuck stars in perhaps the most awkward sitcom to date. Stirling Lemme has a clock surgically attached to his abdomen and works as Flava Flav's protégé. Daniel Lian becomes the first Ph.D in the field of Weapons Engineering. Andrew Lumetta moves to California to shack up with Dr. Dre and rediscover his thug roots. Megan McBride goes on a critically acclaimed "You Might Live in Oakwood if..." comedy tour with Jeff Foxworthy. Alex Mestre after making it to Wimbledon final, falls off a roller coaster and breaks every bone in his body. Bissy Michael becomes a Williamsburg re-enacter and explains the many fine details of astrophysics to tourists. Liam Moersch turns into a crab and scuttles away into the ocean depths. Chae Won Park wins a sweepstakes to be a featured artist on PSY's next big hit. Halley Pollock-Muskin adds an "i" to her name and is never misunderstood again. Charlotte Popetz opens a coffee chain called "Not Starbucks" that serves only cage-free, organic, grass-fed coffee. Sherry Qiu becomes the exclusive beatmaker for Super Junior. Evan Ramos becomes the CEO of quickmeme, makes it rain, and gets all the women. Petra Rantanen becomes the United States' first female president—but she doesn't know much about politics. Andrew Richardson works for a summer as the Siebel Center security guard. Edo Roth trademarks "Schnags," and makes it into a successful television show, restaurant franchise, and soda brand. George Ruan becomes a professional League of Legends player, but after a crippling bout of Carpal tunnel, he loses his skills, and gets stuck in ELO Hell. Paul Seeley becomes a wealthy businessman who sells things that SMELL LIKE FISH. Max Sigalov restores the former Soviet Union to its former "greatness." Lyric Simms, upon turning 18, changes her name to Ricky and becomes a chemist. Kaila Simpson becomes a professional singer. Chris Sligar becomes a StarCraft pro and part-time sailor. Veronika Sowers becomes a bioengineer and develops a cure for the intelligence defects caused by blondeness. Freddie Stavins gets rich by making a Facebook app that posts song lyrics depending on the mood of your status update. Juliana Trach moves to Montana and starts a new game called Equestrian Volleyball which eventually becomes an Olympic sport in 2032. Sarah Vaughen moves to South America and becomes wealthy selling street art of famous soccer players. George Voulgaris moves to Greece after graduation and wins the Guinness World Record for the youngest person to retire—at the ripe old age of 19. Maria Wang moves to Taiwan and opens a chain of stinky tofu restaurants. Patrick Wong plays for the Knicks after having dual prosthetic ankle surgery due to lingering ankle injuries. Yulun Wu opens a venture capital firm called Wumanizer and Co. Julia Zuo creates a series of YouTube videos teaching people how to draw cats.

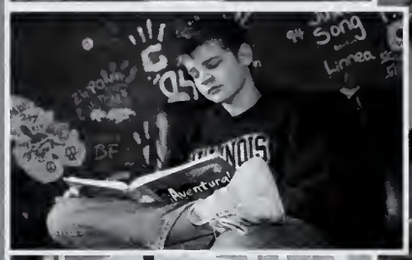
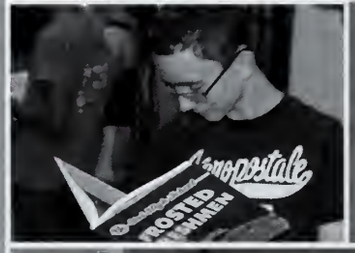
Spring Bran

Inside Scoop!

'TIL NEXT YEAR!

DEVIOUS AND MISCHIEVOUS





ANOTHER YEAR ENDS...

After a long year with a lot of changes, the end of the 2012-2013 school year could not come fast enough for Uni students. For some, it marked the end of their high school career and the beginning of college. For others, it signified the just-as-welcome end of school year. But before summer could commence, there was still plenty to do. Here's a recap of the events that signified another conclusion.

OXFAM Dinner

Held on May 8th, the Oxfam Hunger Banquet was sponsored by the Uni High Social Justice Class with proceeds going to the Wesley Evening Food Pantry. For $3, students were randomly assigned to one of three social classes and served accordingly. Most were crowded onto tarps as to simulate either the middle class, who were given a selection of rice and beans, or the lower class, for whom rice was the only option. A lucky few were placed in the upper class and able to enjoy a three-course meal complete with tables and chairs. As students ate and socialized among their cliques, the sponsoring class was joined by guest speakers in the community to educate and spread awareness about the emergence of world hunger.

Opinions on Crunch Time

Janet Morford

"I thought the Uni Celebration was done nicely, especially with the good weather, fun displays, and of course, the ice cream sandwiches!"

Chas Newman

"I enjoyed taking my last ever Spring Finals in high school. The Celebration was also a nice change of things, something that was fun to end the year with."

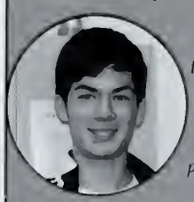
Ellen Rispoli

"I could smell the hot dogs and burgers on the grill and all I wanted to do was rush through the test... When the yearbooks were distribnted I wanted everyone to sign mine not because it was the end, but because I wanted to remember things a long the way."

Jackie Carrubba

"As my finals came to an end, I was excited to get out of the school and eat some free food at the picnic. Having classes finally over was a relief."

Josh Meling



"I thought the end of the year was much smoother than last year. I liked the new style of the Awards Ceremony and how departments had smaller presentations. The picnic was awesome with good food and then the yearbooks were handed out. Great year."

LOOK AT THAT, JACK!

Uni High Theater Co. brings to life an old fairy tale

Following the tragedy of Oedipus Rex, the Uni High Theater Co. needed a change of theme. Their next production, co-written by Theater Director Chris "Fing" Guyotte, is a musical based upon the original Jack and the Beanstalk fairy tale.

The musical opens with a news report about the story of a young boy named Jack and his adventure on a magic beanstalk. The story continues with Jack walking to the market to sell their cow, Milky White, for coins so he and his mom can buy food. On the way, Jack encounters a Funny Old Man, who convinces Jack to trade Milky White to him for some magic beans. Jack returns home elated, but his mom is not as amused. After a long lament about what Jack had done, she sent Jack to bed without supper. Jack awoke the next day to find a giant magic beanstalk that had grown right outside his window. A short commercial break follows, where the Funny Old Man extolls the virtues of partaking in "Milky White Cheesy Macs!" to a bemused audience, "a 20 dollar value, yours for only $19.99!"

The story returns with Jack entering the Ogres house, where he meets Mrs. Ogre. After much convincing, Jack manages to persuade Mrs. Ogre to feed him. However, the Ogre returns before that occurs, and Jack scurries off to hide. The Ogre sniffs around, smelling "the blood of an English boy," but manages to be calmed by counting his shiny blue (yes, blue) coins. Jack steals the coins, as well as a hen and a harp, and all ends happily ever after with the death of the Ogre and the marriage between Jack and the harp.

The Theater Company put on a total of six shows, with one of them at Martin Luther King Elementary school. This was a first for Uni High theater, as most performances put on are hosted at the North Attic stage. According to Theater Director Chris "Fing" Guyotte, "Mr. Murphy and I were extremely pleased with the work of the Musicians, Technicians and Actors when we travelled to MLK. The audience there was warm and friendly. They were as important to the success of the show as we were and boy did they do a great job. I hope to bring shows there again in the future. Although the setting was unfamiliar, the many hours of constant rehearsal paid off and the show went smoothly. All in all, the show was a hit with all audiences as evidenced by the laughter that resonated throughout the theatergoers."

CONTROL THE BALL

The 2013 soccer season kicked off with trepidation. The loss of eight strong senior players from the 2012 team left a sense of doubt, as fans wondered if the soccer squad could maintain its competitive edge. With no time to lose, the Varsity and JV teams threw themselves at training with a newfound determination, as they hoped to do well this season. The season opened with the traditional matches against crosstown rivals St. Thomas More and Champaign Central, both resulting in shutout defeats. While these results were a disappointment, the squad provided valuable experience to the team and an idea of what to expect of future opponents.

Despite the opening struggles, Head Coach Phil Anders squad rallied against their next Champaign opponent, the Judah Tribe. Uni notched their first victory of the season (4-0) behind two early goals by Mara Dolan and the great goalie play of Jia Bild. The next few games were mixed, with some spectacular victories against traditionally good teams and close defeats against very challenging opponents. The high point for the season was the victory over Normal Cavalry Christian Academy, when the Varsity Illineks scored ten goals and only allowed one. Sophomore Grace Lilly scored five goals in the match.

"I think our team had a lot of potential this season, and although we didn't get as far as some of us had hoped for Regionals/Sectionals, we played a great last game against STM and worked well with our teammates as the season progressed. I think the team will only continue to get better in the upcoming years!" - Grace Lilly

The JV squad trained hard for the upcoming season, but foul weather cancelled many of their matches. Although the JV team did not see much game time activity, their effort did not go unnoticed. JV Head Coach Joy Shapley - "After every game, I had different people coming up to me asking what they could do better, which is always great to see. We had a very promising freshman class and the returning players showed themselves to be real leaders on the field."

TRACK

The outdoor season started very slowly for both the boys' and the girls' track team; many meets were cancelled due to the horrible weather conditions. Afternoon outdoor practices often ended with mud-splattered shorts and shoes. However, once the rain stopped and the weather cleared up, Uni's track teams began to display their talent.

The young Illineks took to the track this year for their first time representing Uni. Isaac Freund placed fourth and fifth at Sectionals in 1600 and 800 meter runs and the girls' 4x200 and 4x400 relays went to State. At the IESA State Meet, Annemarie Michael, a part of the 4x400 relay, placed second in the mile and won the State title in the 800 meter run. Michael set a new state record (2:21.17) in narrowly defeating her arch nemesis in the final by twelve-hundreths of a second.

"I was able to see many up-and-coming runners become stronger athletes. I feel that the track team will have a solid base of sophomores and freshmen to take our spots when we graduate.
- Junior Bryan Hwu

During the high school season, the track teams advanced five runners to the Illinois Top Times Indoor Championship Meet and six to the News-Gazette Honor Roll Meet.

At the IHSA Catlin Sectional, the girls' track team had medalists in six different events including three relays. From this group, two advanced to the State meet as junior Lea Slauch competed in the 100m dash and Senior Emma Hoyer placed ninth in discus. Hoyer left Uni with two records in shot put (33' 9") and discus (113' 10").

Uni's boys team didn't disappoint with their showing at the Unity Sectional. Two relays claimed third and fourth place overall and junior George Gunter met the qualifying mark in the 800m giving him a ticket to State. As Uni's lone male representative at State, Gunter placed third his heat, advancing to the Final. In the Final, Gunter crossed the line in a season-best 1:58.71, finishing fourth in the 800 and earning his second all-state medal in his career.

AHEAD OF THE REST 1) Junior Lea Slauch rounds the corner, arms pumping furiously. 2) Senior Kody Carmody leaps over the hurdles, outdistancing all of his opponents. 3) Freshman Robert Money stays strong at the end of his leg in the 4x200 relay, ahead of the other teams. 4) The subbie track team (l-r, t-b): Annemarie Michael, Tori Aber, Mikella Vermaire, Cecilia Abbamonte, Daniel Vardy, Camron Butler, Grace Taylor, Isaac Freund, Ezra Johnson, Timmy Purnell, Ethan Simmons, Renata Herrera, Rima Rebei, Ha-il Son, Madie Gardner, Kyra Althaus, Ally Sussman. 5) The boys track team stick together at the start of their fitness-testing mile. 6) Junior Megan James grits her teeth as she winds up to throw her eight-pound shot put. 7) The girls track team (l-r, t-b): Havah Berg, Kate Popetz, Claire Michael, Kaila Simpson, Izzy Fitzpatrick, Siena Roberts, Athena Feng, Raebekkah Pratt-Clarke, Mariam Arif, Sarah Lee, Natalie Hummel, Alyson Gerdes, Alana Rosenbaum, Ali Taylor, Lea Slauch, Chelsea Edwards, Maia Vardy, Iulianna Taritsa, Kate Ferreira, Chloe Yang, Aarthi Lakshminarayanan. Missing: Maddie Brown, Emma Hoyer, Megan James, Katie Tender.

You Got Served

The 2013 spring season marked the first year of an official IHSA boys tennis team at Uni High. In previous years, anyone interested in tennis would join the tennis club and several players would be chosen to participate in Sectionals. Because of increasing interest, the athletic department and school administration decided to offer an official team that would compete in tournaments and matches with other schools throughout the regular season.

"Being part of the first tennis team was an incredible honor. Uni is built on tradition and being able to create a new tradition and play competitive high school tennis was a great feeling."
-Senior Freddie Stavins

Despite the limited number of practice courts, Head Coach Dave Bergandine and the team creatively shared space so all could improve their game. Uni had access to the courts at Illini Grove and sometimes Atkins Tennis Center for practices. The Illineks worked with the "lobster," played king-of-the-court and scrimmaged daily, despite each court being shared by an average of five boys. Practice time also served as bonding time, as Coach Bergandine turned to his captains to assist in working with teammates on different serving techniques and aspects of the game.

Even though 2013 is the program's first season, you could not tell that by the team's early season results. Uni defeated St. Thomas More in a stellar early season match at Atkins. This victory proved as a springboard for the season, giving the team confidence as they progressed to the post season.

In the IHSA Sectionals, the doubles teams of seniors Alex Mestre and Edo Roth and juniors Max Li and Nathan Beauchamp proved the program's depth. Mestre and Roth advanced to the IHSA State Tournament for the fourth time in their Uni careers by winning the Sectional title. The duo won their first four matches at State, quickly advancing to the quarter-finals. In the quarter-finals, they were defeated in three sets by the eventual State Champion from Hinsdale Central. Despite the loss in the championship bracket, the Illinek duo continued their careers for two more matches by advancing to the Consolation Semifinals before losing in straight sets. Mestre and Roth concluded their careers with a state record of 16-8 overall and advanced to the consolation semis in their final two appearances and were repeat members of the IHSA State Tennis All-State team.

"Come to Prom, Uni Prom"

Prom Royale commemorated the 60th Anniversary of Casino Royale

The name is Prom, Uni Prom. That was the theme of the 2013 Uni High Prom, or Prom Royale, which commemorated the 60th anniversary of Ian Fleming's wildly popular spy novel, Casino Royale. Although there were no high-speed car chases, no shoot outs between the bad guys and the superspy, James Bond, there was no lack of fun or excitement at the eagerly-anticipated event.

Held at the Champaign Country Club this year on May 4th, from 7 to 11 pm, the venue was already very impressive. Dinner was served promptly at 7:30, and it did not disappoint the hungry partygoers. The prom guests loaded their plates with all sorts of succulent foods, from rolls to ribs, and went back for more. A fun theme addition for this year was lemonade "martinis," where delighted guests sipped their beverage while socializing. To put the finishing touch on the dinner, Mr. Murphy played the piano while the guests feasted.

Once everyone ate their fill, the attendees proceeded to make their way to the dance floor. This year's DJ was "Josh the Prize Guy," from Q96. Playing a mix of the latest pop songs as well as slow classics, the dancers all enjoyed themselves. If they grew tired of dancing, they relaxed by playing cards at the poker tables set up in the lobby. Photographer Darryl Holman was there to capture all the memorable moments of the night, as well as crews sent by the Yearbook Class and Journalism. As per tradition, the Prom Court votes were tallied and counted, and the winners were declared by the DJ and subsequently crowned. However, royalty or not, everyone at the event could claim that this was a night to remember.

Kiss our Prox Card Goodbye

After a turbulent and spectacular five years, the Class of 2013 was ready for the final step of their Uni High career, to walk on the stage and receive their diploma. This year's graduation took place on Saturday, May 18th at Krannert's Tryon Festival Theater. The ceremony began with Wyatt Bensken's opening speech welcoming everyone to the graduation. Delivering the traditional commencement speech was the English Department's very own, Mr. Steve Rayburn. In an interesting twist, the 2013 Beberman Alumni Award winner, Nancy Roberts, reflected back on her days at Uni during her acceptance speech with the use of an old math video.

Finally, the big moment came when the soon-to-be alumni crossed the stage and received their diplomas from Dr. Walkington, as well as roses from the faculty. There were no mishaps as they proudly walked their final steps as Uni students. The class received one final message from Edo Roth, who motivated and encouraged the Class of 2013 with his captivating words. As the graduating students head all over the globe, they will definitely have a huge impact on their surroundings.

Memories to last a Lifetime

Seniors enjoy the royal treatment

As the school year wound down, there remained two major traditions that needs to be fulfilled: the senior supper and the handprints.

The Class of 2013 painted their handprints on their final Monday at Uni. Accompanying this final ceremony were laughs, paint spills, and the friendly jockeying for position of their legacy at Uni.

The senior supper was hosted at Biaggi's again this year. Many of the faculty came to celebrate the Class of 2013's imminent departure. All in all, the supper was a success, where the soon-to-be graduating seniors had one last chance to enjoy the company of their classmates.

Celebration with a Twist

Uni's new awards ceremony a success!

Uni implemented a new awards ceremony plan this year, which featured an interactive Celebration at the end, during which students could learn what Uni Clubs had accomplished during the school year. The MC of the "formal" awards ceremony was Steve Rayburn, bow tie and all. Awards were presented by department representatives Elizabeth Majerus, Paul Weilmuenster, Warren Buck, Jim Carrubba, Janet Morford, and Sally Walker. Director John Walkington also presented some awards as well. The presentation of the awards was followed by a slideshow showcasing what students have done this year, which concluded the "formal" portion of the event. Afterwards, students went outside and were able to see the booths presented by various clubs and organizations as they ate cookies and ice cream sandwiches. The presentations ranged from Scholastic Bowl to church mission trips to frisbee-throwing robots. There also were other attractions at the event, such as basketball shooting which were available to students.

Awards this year were given to Sarah Vaughn (Student of the Year), Miriam Ferede (Emma Koenker Foreign Language), James Boyle (Tobin), Chelsea Edwards (Phillip Anderson), Arch Robison (Bausch & Lomb), Freddie Stavins (Director's) and Wyatt Bensken (June Mank, Tom Jolly, Athletic Director's). The female Athlete of the Year was Emma Hoyer, a star athlete that excelled in volleyball, basketball, and track and field. The male Athletes of the Year were George Voulgaris and Patrick Wong, who led the team to a 2nd place finish in soccer and also played a large role for the basketball team. The Wylde Q. Chicken Award for Coloring Outside the Lines was awarded to Arch Robison for his Wally Wombat novel and his parodies of standardized tests in English class.

Clubs and organizations that had booths at the Celebration were Rotary Youth Exchange, WILL Interns, Writing Center, Scholastic Bowl, Investment Club, Uni High Model UN, Spectrum, Habitat for Humanity, Uni Summer Enrichment Camp, Local Uni Dance Community, Art Club, Unique Literary Magazine, the PEO Star Award Program, Presbyterian Mission Trips, FRC Ctrl-Z 4096 Robotics, and the Math Team. Inside Uni, the Jazz Band performed in the kitchen while Juliana Trach and Jack Gillette presented on Senior Projects and Arch Robison discussed Central Illinois Birding. Additionally, there were some mini basketball hoops set out as well, in which students could compete.

Overall, students and faculty seemed to like the new style more than in previous years, due to the shorter formal awards presentation and the new interactive Uni Celebration afterwards. If the new format is used in the following years, it should hopefully become even better as more clubs and organizations participate.

Chemistry plays a large role in the making of S'mores and involves a numbe changes. Breaking graham crackers or a chocolate bar in pieces is a physical change. Heating a marshmallow or two is a chemical change. As the sugar crystals on the surface of the marshmallow are heated, the hydrogen and oxygen molecules are replaced by carbon molecules and turns the marshmallow black. For the final step, the roasted marshmallow melts the chocolate and makes a savory treat.

INGREDIENTS

1 Marshmallow
2 Graham crackers
1 Chocolate Piece
